President's Message

Welcome to all our newly retired colleagues! Congratulations on job well done! You made a difference in the lives of Calgary students.

Hectic, fabulous, and energizing are just a few of the words teachers remember when reflecting on the first day of school. Retiring teachers know that the first day of school is not the end of a lazy summer; it's time for the continuation of golf games, strolls in the park, long coffee breaks, and so much more.

Your CRTA Executive and Directors have been busy over the summer months preparing for the days ahead. Garry Jeffrey has mailed out to all new retirees Membership News in which he presents the many interesting and entertaining opportunities that are on the horizon. (see column to the right. Ed.)

In August several Board members and invited guests attended the Spiritwood Retreat surrounded by the beauty of nature near Priddis, south of Calgary. Under the capable direction and leadership of facilitator Barbara Pedersen, we began to plan goals for the next three to five years for CRTA. Barb led the group through activities to discover strengths and challenges of CRTA, so that we can begin to construct goals for the future. An ad hoc committee will be reviewing the goals and charting a course of action.

Volunteers

On a regular basis the CRTA Newsletter editor receives requests to bring the name of a worthwhile organization before our membership. Usually I pass the e-mails on to our webmaster, Greg Chitrenky to place the relevant information in the volunteer section of the website. Request for retired teachers to take on a paid position end up there as well.

This time the Newsletter will highlight two organizations that may tweak your interest enough to pick up the phone and find out if what they offer is suitable for you and your availability.

Lauren Binette works for the Centre for Affordable Water and Sanitation Technology. CAWST is a non-profit engineering consultancy that provides training and education on safe water and sanitation practices in developing countries.

CAWST is looking for volunteers for its Speakers Bureau. Apparently one of our CRTA members is already involved in this organization. To join him/her contact Lauren at 403-243-3285 ext.237. The office is located at 12, 2916—5 Avenue SE.

Why Homework Heroes? A Success Story.

A boy who regularly attended school was in need of some help with his studies—his math, reading and comprehensive skills were very poor. His knowledge in all subjects was lower than other students at his age and grade level. His mother brought him to one of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Calgary community clubs for some after school homework help. Upon arriving at the community club the boy's mother shared his report card with a Homework Hero. The report card showcased poor marks and comments from teachers relating to his unsatisfactory performance. At the time the boy started working with a Homework Hero his parents were going through a divorce and fighting over his custody which created an unhappy and stressful environment. After creating a relationship and bond with the homework hero and receiving guidance and praise the boy's mother and teachers noticed positive changes. The boy's interest in learning returned and he actually started asking for additional homework tasks! At the end of the semester his proud mother once again brought his report card to show the Homework Hero—every grade had improved.

The Boys and Girls Club of Calgary is committed to reducing barriers to academic success and the engagement as there is a link between a child's academic and their future contribution to society. The Homework Hero program strives to increase a child's chances of academic success through:

- Promoting a positive learning environment to build confidence and skills through praise and encouragement.
- Breaking down concepts and skills into small steps to achieve understanding
- Raising the bar incrementally to keep all youth engaged and attentive.

This request for volunteers in the Homework Hero program was submitted by Nicky Blackshaw, Volunteer Coordinator Boys and Girls Club Calgary. You may contact her at nblackshaw@bgcc.ab.ca or 403-276-9981. The website gives more information about the
